

Streamline Credentialing Management— from Training to Compliance With GHX Credentialing Managed Service

An average med-device company spends a cumulative 21,358 hours on credentialing across administrative, human resource and sales departments.¹ To keep your representatives customer-ready, you need comprehensive training and administrative support with daily credentialing needs—across multiple vendor credentialing organizations (VCOs).

Really, there are three ways to manage credentialing. It can be handled fully by your reps, managed by reps with some corporate support, or completely outsourced.

The latter is where GHX Credentialing Managed Service comes in. Whether you are ramping up your team for a new product launch or looking for ways to increase efficiencies across your established credentialing program, we can help you streamline processes and free up time for your reps.

With Credentialing Managed Service, you can:

- Use smart technology to drive a more efficient process across all VCOs
- Empower your staff to focus on managing deals instead of documents
- Expand your in-house resources for one-time projects (e.g., representative onboarding)
- Utilize best practices to help meet national credentialing compliance standards
- Leverage intelligent reporting to help keep representatives compliant and sales-ready
- Customize and evolve your credentialing solution to fit the needs of your business

Manage Deals, Not Documents

To learn more about Credentialing Managed Service or the full suite of GHX Vendormate credentialing solutions, visit ghx.com

¹ 2021 GHX Internal Data